

Dr. Jones will be attending the ACEP17 Scientific Assembly in Washington, DC at the end of October. Schedule a meeting with him (he's very available!) to learn more about the Advanced ECG Interpretation Boot Camp and how it can help you and your colleagues.

Just call 713-931-5423 or email Dr. Jones at jwjmd@medicusofhouston.com.

If you are the director of an emergency medicine group, learn about our discounts for private classes held in your city or the location of your choice (some restrictions apply).

Medicus of Houston and its founder, Jerry W. Jones MD FACEP, are known the world over for the Advanced ECG Interpretation Boot Camp, the quality of teaching and the advanced course curriculum. Classes have been held not only in the US but also in Canada and in Europe. The boot camps typically include participants from not only the US and Canada, but also from Australia, New Zealand, Europe and the Middle East.

Dr. Jones initially trained as an internist but switched to emergency medicine early in his career. He is now retired from clinical practice and devotes his time to teaching. He has been a guest speaker for the ACEP Scientific Assembly, the European Society of Emergency Medicine and a plenary session speaker at the Dutch North Sea Emergency Medicine Conference.
